SEE INSTRUCTION NO. 2

(Sender's complete address above)

Germany, 17 Apr. 45.

Dear Max,

Before I forget, please note the new address. It isn't much of a change, though I am now adjutant. That is a desk job that doesn't particularly please me, though it has some advantages. Since I last wrote we crossed the Rhine, a proceeding that was almost as big an affair as an amphibious landing. It all went off pretty smoothly.

This is a beautiful country, and with spring in the air I could go for the Fallobad myself. In fact, I very nearly stole ~~in~~ one. I have examined five or six different ones here. They all have a rudder manipulated by the feet for steering. I may pick one up yet. Please give my regards to Fred Phillips when you see him next. I understand Gayer is somewhere around Washington, give him hell for me if you run into him.

John Cairns
