Dear Miss Wright,

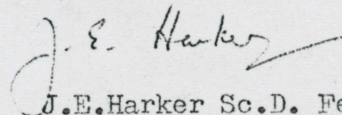

Miss Cherly Tickle has asked me to write in support of her application for a Seesel post-doctoral Fellowship.

You will no doubt have another letter from someone who is acquainted with her post-graduate research work. My knowledge is confined to her career as an undergraduate at Cambridge University, when she was a member of this College. During that time I was her Director of Studies, and I supervised her in Zoology.

Miss Tickle is a very intelligent young woman, with a clear and penetrating brain. She always worked very hard and showed a lively interest in all her subjects. Her examination results, except in her first year, were disappointing, and did not reflect the quality of her work throughout the year.

She has a friendly and stable personality, and would be a pleasant member of any group.

Yours sincerely,

J.E.Harker Sc.D. Fellow and Director of Studies in Natural Sciences.
