Figure S6: Comparison of observed dissipation rates against MacKinnon and Gregg empirical scaling for dissipation rates caused by internal waves. Solid black line indicates 45°, and red line represents linear regression line. Correlation coefficient computed is 0.24, which is found to be significant with 99% confidence interval.