
Supplemntal Figure S3 - Variations in calculated postseismic surface displacements (assuming diffusion creep) between models that use our nominal coseismic model and ones that have 20% and 40% noise superimposed on the coseismic slip distribution. The addition of coseismic noise has little influence on calculated postseismic displacements using using the same assumed rheology.